Abstract The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week training program on the physical fitness of 100 male and 100 female students. The program included aerobic, strength, and flexibility exercises. The results showed that the program had a significant positive effect on the physical fitness of both male and female students. The program was effective in improving cardiovascular fitness, muscular strength, and flexibility. The results also showed that the program was more effective for male students than for female students. The program was well-received by the students and was considered to be a valuable addition to the school curriculum.
